

Brunswick Bowling is introducing these new releases to fill out the lines as we enter into a busy August. Due to obtaining supplies and shipping timelines, equipment may be delayed and I will post any changes a.s.a.p. If something catches your eye, please pre-order them at your favorite shop. You can find links on our website's equipment page (updated often) and you will find my Hammer brand comparison reviews. Just a reminder, all performance balls have a two-year warranty from the date of purchase. Please contact me with any questions regarding your current equipment and what may be a great addition to your arsenal.

Brunswick Melee Jab Midnight Blue (WWRD 08/20/2021)

Did you pick up one on the most talked about balls of the year, the Brunswick Knockout? The Brunswick Melee Jab Midnight Blue would be a great compliment to it. Using a new formulation of the Savvy Hook 3.0 Pearl and different box finish, the Midnight Blue will have more traction than the previous Blood Red. The Core is still the iconic Melee that has kept bowlers striking on a majority of patterns. The same core is available in weights 12-16 and surrounded by DynamiCore for added power and durability.

Brunswick Zenith Hybrid (WWRD 08/20/2021)

Rounding out the Zenith line, Brunswick introduces the Zenith Hybrid. Where the Pearl was fantastic off the spot and the Solid was a hook monster on the heavier volumes, the Hybrid fits right in the middle. The colors are a combo of Black/Ice/Smoke. Of course both D.O.T. and DynamiCore are used in this new Pro Performance release.

DV8 Hell Raiser Blaze (WWRD 08/20/2021)

The new addition to the DV8 line after the Hell Raiser Return and the Damn Good Verge could only be an oil-destroying monster, the Hell Raiser Blaze. As many of the high performance balls, the Blaze utilizes D.O.T. and DynamiCore. The cover is the Inciter Max Traction with a 500/1000 grit Siaair Finish and looks great with the color mix of Orange/Yellow/Black. A big ball for big scores!

Ebonite Puma (WWRD 08/06/2021)

The CAT series was very popular years ago and now comes the return of a favorite name... the Puma. As today's conditions have changed, the Puma's cover and core have been modified to combat them. High friction, lighter volumes and broken down conditions will be where the Puma can prowl the best. The Copper/Black colors and the length with a strong backend motion are eye catching. If you don't think you're a CAT person, this one may change your mind.

Ebonite Game Breaker ASYM (WWRD 08/06/2021)

One of the most iconic and dependable ball lines in history has been the Game Breaker series. There have been many cover changes, but the core has stayed the same...until now. By shaving the sides slightly, the ASYM increases the intermediate diff to see a more pronounced direction change at the end of the pattern. It's a great looking Blue/Silver combo, GB 12.0 Pearl cover with DynamiCore added for durability.

Radical Intel Special Edition (WWRD 08/06/2021)

The Radical Intel series broke house records around the country. Bringing back the Special Edition Pearl version with two updates will possibly set new records. While the core is the same, this time the cover is the TP-1 (Results, Conspiracy Theory) and DynamiCore is the outer core for more hitting power and durability. Also, the new colors are Purple/Blue.

This ball has everything Radical! A modified Incognito core (2.477 RG, .051 Diff. 019 Intermediate Diff.), S.H.A.R.P. cover with TS-1 added and DynamiCore to cut through heavy volumes and saving a strong down lane motion for a solid. The Informer has a big engine and lots of tires for traction in a Dark Blue color. They will be available in 14-16lbs.

Track Legion Pearl (WWRD 08/20/2021)

A favorite core of Track Bowling fans was the Legion LT-2 Core. Combining this core with the Prime Response Pearl cover (last used on the Proof Pearl) brings an asymmetric motion to the Track line that is currently missing. D.O.T. and DynamiCore has been added for drilling ease and durability plus the colors are a popular blend of Purple/Silver.
